Town Board Discussions:

- Salt Sheds

The Board and Highway Superintendent Stowell discussed various types of salt sheds and the pros and cons of each. Ideally, but the most costly choice would be a wooden structure with an estimate of the life expectancy of 20 to 25 years. Superintendent Stowell mentioned other types of sheds and pointed out what other municipalities have been using. He gave the Board very rough estimates for the cost but will provide a detailed estimate along with life expectancies of the various types of sheds.

- Highway estimates for road work
- 9 Mile Island Agreement - Attorney to review
- Health Care Consortium

The Supervisor from the Town of Somerset asked if the Town would be interested in being part of a large group for Health Insurance. Estimated cost to be discussed when presented.

- Community Center

Supervisor Riester asked the Board to review the information regarding last year's proposal for a Community Center. He referred them to the Town's website that the information is still posted on the HOME page. It includes the comments made by the residents during the scheduled informational meetings held last year.
